Application Rates

An annual pre-season soil and water test are strongly suggested. Soil analysis will provide proper feeding regimen and water quality will affect feeding regimen as any bi-carbonates and pH will affect nutrient availability for the plants.

Suggested Application Rate: 10 to 15 gallons per acre per month depending upon soil type.

“I am extremely impressed by the water savings and higher volume of more marketable fruit. I will definitely continue to use Worm Power liquid extract (WPLE) in all future plantings, starting with 30 acres of organic berries I’ll be planting in July. I will also use WPLE on the 50 acres I have here when I plant again in October.”

Jesus Romero, Ranch Manager, Reiter Brothers. Oxnard, California

“I am most impressed with the water savings, fruit set, and increased growth with so little fertilizer. Worm Power is the most efficient way to increase soil fertility. I am convinced about this product and will not only use it again, but all the time.”
